Santa Claus Restricted Important Regulations In Effect Due To War

Permit From Bank Necessary to send Cash or Goods
Over $25. Outside of Canada. Mails Are Affected

If you don't care for filling out forms maybe you better just send that aunt in Carolina a nice card and settle with the uncle in Scotland for a batch of home made cookies. Christmas giving in the international sense has taken on severe complications and if you don't believe it ask Santa Claus. He's wearing so much red tape over his scarlet mackinaw that he looks like a festive mummy.

To get a gift whose value exceeds $25 out of Canada this year it will be necessary to complete nine Government forms beside the usual customs declaration. Its a war measure in accordance with the policies of the newly constituted Foreign Exchange Control Board which to be perfectly fair, is no happier about the business than the customer himself.

Form B which is addressed to the Collector of Customs and Excise, is entitled Application for Particular License to Export Goods, or Declaration of Goods Exported under Authority of General License.

It requires the name, occupation and address of the applicant, the name and address of the party to which the hammered silver cocktail shaker or the ivory book ends are being sent, the nature of business relationship (if any), of consignee to exporter the port through which it is sent, the name and address of the applicants authorized dealer, the date of export the name of agency of transport from Canada, and a description of goods. "Describe fully". Form B warns parenthetically "as canned pork, printed cotton cloth, printing presses, apples, wheat, oats etc."

Form D, which devotes itself almost exclusively to finding out how much money if any the recipient of the gift is going to pay donor. It is entitled "Application for Permit to Export Goods in Connection with which no Foreign Exchange is to Become Available". It must be signed by your bank. If you have no bank, the custom bureau explained regretfully your little grandnephew overseas will have to get along with out his canned pork etc.

Postmaster Orr explains that this applies to gifts over the value of $25. Parcels of lesser value may be sent with only declaration setting forth items and value of each.

Irrigation Meet Here Saturday Attend Campbells Hall at 1.30 P M

A public meeting is to be held in Campbell's hall Saturday at 1:30 when officials of the P. F. R. Act will be present to give details of the local scheme.

For the past few weeks the local committee headed by the Reeve has been busy securing interest in the project and the petition has been largely signed

The Chronicle urges every farmer and business man to attend this meeting. Come prepared to discuss the project and if convinced of its benefit to all pull together for the good of the whole district

Remember the day-Saturday time 1:30 place Campbell hall

Red Cross Notes

It is not too late to make your contribution to the Red Cross campaign and if you have not already done so hand same into Clark Rhodes, secretary, at once.

The response to date has been quite satisfactory but there are many yet who have not made their contribution who could do so if they realized the seriousness of the situation

Those who listen to the radio will have heard the appeals made by leaders in church and state. The appeal of Mr. George McCullough a Toronto publisher was particularly appealing.

Registered mail to U.S. or other countries is also subject to regulation. Senders must declare the contents which if is money may not exceed $25 as a gift or $100 if for value received, in any one month. Any person who sends money without permit to do so by the Exchange Board is subject to heavy penalty.

All these regulations are for the proper prosecution of the war and as loyal Canadians should be accepted without question. All financial resources of the country whether cash or goods must be kept in the country or movement much restricted.

Nothing Is Undone That Can Be Done In Our War Effort

Finance Minister, Who Forsook Lucrative Practice to Serve His Country in Need, Makes Unqualified Declaration From Ottawa

To Spend $315,000,000 First Year

Toronto Editor Also Speaks

Hon. James Ralston minister of Finance, who left profitable private life to serve his country in troublous time—not for a political future but to Canada's call to service—stood before a microphone in Ottawa last Friday and spoke to the Canadian people on Canada's war effort

I believe, he declared in convincing tone, that in the time available nothing has been or is being left undone which could reasonably be done by your government and by the public service to give full effect to the contribution which Canada is making in this war.

If any of you have any doubt about Canada being in the war, let me tell you that this program with we start is estimated to cost about $315,000,000 in the first year of war. That is almost as great as our war expenditure in the fiscal year 1917-18, when the Great War was at its height.

In certain quarters the Government has been charged with inactivity. I had an idea we here in Ottawa were trying to do a fair sized bit of work. If our efforts of the last ten weeks can be classed as inactivity, then heaven help us if we ever have to get down to work.

Stressing the tremendous role Canada is expected to play in the development of economic war Floy S. Chalmers, editor of Financial Post said that Canadian business men, while prepared to submit to the discipline of the State, had the right to demand a Cabinet strong enough to see the war through to a successful finish, and that when the job was done, we shall be given back our freedom.

Mr. Chalmers was addressing the Industrial Advertisers' Association of Ontario at a special dinner meeting in the Royal York Hotel. Speaking on Industry Under War Conditions, Mr. Chalmers emphasized that the present war likely to be won or lost on the economic battlefield even if the military forces remained more or less at a stalemate.

An economic war required efficient planning and control, and a high degree of centralized authority he contended. Canadians would have to submit increasingly to control from above as the war went on he said. Avoidance of waste of money, resources and productive capacity was essential he told his listeners.

Searle Grain Co. Make Report

The precipitation that has occurred over the three prairie provinces during the fall months of August, September, and October, was averaged only 62 percent of normal or long time average. In Alberta the percentage has been 78, in Saskatchewan 48 and in Manitoba 80

Investigation has shown that the precipitation which falls during the months of August, September and October, or immediately following harvest and until the ground freezes forms the foundation for the forthcoming crop. Investigation has also shown that a normal wheat crop of 16 1-2 bushels to the acre usually requires the full average amount of this fall reserve moisture.

A study of past records reveal the following.

In Alberta since the year 1898 (the earliest date that yield figures are available) there has been 17 years where the fall rains have been less than normal; 6 of these produced an average or better than average crop but 11 years produced less than an average crop.

In Saskatchewan since 1868, there has been 15 years with less than normal fall precipitation; 4 of these years, produced average crops, but eleven produced less than average crops.

In Manitoba, yield records go back to 1885, and during that period there have been 27 years where there less than normal precipitation occurred in the fall here 7 of the succeeding crops were average or better than average, but 20 were less than average.

It appears from this, then that whenever less than normal precipitation occurs in the fall that the odds are definitely against an average crop being produced in the following year

In Manitoba since 1885 there have been 15 years where the fall moisture was as low as it is this year; in 3 of these years better than normal crops were produced but in 12 years considerably less than the average yields were enjoyed.

It will be observed, therefore that the possibilities are against an average crop being produced in Alberta and Manitoba next year unless considerably better than average rainfall occurs during the growing season and as this report shows, these better than normal rains in the growing season, after a dry fall, have occurred in the past in about one year in three.

In Saskatchewan, however, the odds are quite high against a normal crop being produced next year.

St. Andrews Day

November thirtieth stands out among people of the Scottish race as the natal day of St. Andrew the patron saint of Scotland and around the whole globe wherever there are a group of Scots the day will be observed.

It is no ideal dream to say that St. Andrew's character typifies the general character of the Scot. In general it may be said that the Scottish people are deeply religious, industrious, and are noted for their love of education, freedom of thought, expression and adventure. These characteristics are not always found in every man or woman who comes from Scotland but if you analyze your friend who happens to be a Scot you will find one or all of these qualities.

This is one reason why Scots when they gather round the festive board once a year are able to boast a little of their contributions to mankind for it is only natural that the above qualities of character make themselves felt in everyday life. It accounts for so many leaders in church, state and industry being Scots.

We have no thought of endeavoring to prove that the Scottish race hold a place in the destinies of man which no other people do. We hold to the idea of all people being equal in the sight of God, irrespective of race color or creed. However we have no hesitation in saying that the Scottish people have made and are still making a contribution to the uplift of civilization which can be acknowledged by everyone without taking away from other races any of their rightful credit or praise.

So to those of Scottish birth or descent we say remember St. Andrew and try to emulate the high principles which he lived and with others try and make this a better place in which to live.

Unity Of Action

An address on the radio Sunday afternoon by one of the Catholic faith pointed out the need for Christian action. Father Wood stressed the fact that while forces of evil were working night and day the forces of the church were arguing at the foot of the mountain on the methods of mending the stone upon which the Ten Commandments were written.

That this is true in religion will be acknowledged by most thinking people although we believe that churches are drawing closer, but we feel that the same principle can be applied to community life here. It should make little difference who leads the forces or what methods are applied to gain the objective as long as victory is achieved.

Instead of complaining about this and that if we would all seek a common object, forget our personal likes and work for the good of the whole we believe that much of our so called troubles would disappear.

Building Plans

Completion of the new 500 series of small house designs being prepared by the Housing Administration Department of Finance, Ottawa is announced today. Following past procedure, working drawings for this house have been prepared and are now available to the prospective homeowner at a nominal price. ## Barons

A charmingly arranged shower honoring Miss Amy Glover, a bride elect of this month, was held at the United Church on Wednesday afternoon, under the auspices of the Princess club. Little Dory and Roy White entertained with two delightful recitations and Miss Jean Wallace sang a vocal solo. Guests wrote autograph recipes in a booklet passed through the crowd. Gifts were presented in a beautifully decorated box ornamented with an old-fashioned nosegay. The bride-to-be suitably thanked the assemblage for their gifts and good wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lohr are the proud parents of a son born in the Clarendon hospital.

A surprise to many friends here was the marriage of Miss Maxine (Dede) Egger, to Mr. Frank Bates, which took place in Lethbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Peacocke were Calgary visitors at the week end where Mr. Peacocke attended the reunion of the 31st Battalion. They were accompanied to Calgary by Mrs. Blacklock and Bobby, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Paulson.

Raleigh Martin was also a Calgary visitor over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schmitz Jr. were honored, by a gathering of their friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Ford last week. The party then proceeded to the hall where dancing was enjoyed by all. The bride and groom were presented with an Alladin lamp and small purse as an expression of good wishes.

JUICY, perfectly-ripened Canadian apples are in . . . fresh from Canada's finest orchards! Plenty of them, too—those that normally would be exported overseas, as well as our own usual, generous supply. And—thanks to the higher minimum grade requirements—there are greater-than-average qualities of the finer, fancier, higher-grade eating apples.

So, all through this year's apple season, order liberal quantities of Canadian apples . . . for eating, cooking, entertaining . . . and for jellying and preserving. You'll enjoy them immensely—and you'll be doing your country a SERVICE at the same time.

And remember, Canadian apples are Government Graded. Ask to see the grade-mark on the container when you buy!

AGRICULTURAL POST

PROF. K. W. NEATBY.
head of the Field Crops Department of the University of Alberta, who has been selected by the Line Elevator Companies as Director of the newly formed Agricultural Division of the North-West Grain Dealers' Association.

Line Country Elevator Companies announced today that they have formed an agricultural division of the North-West Grain Dealers' Association. The new department will be under the direction of Professor K. W. Neatby.

"For some considerable time past the line elevators have been giving serious consideration to the most effective and constructive manner in which they could assist in agricultural problems. The proper personnel to undertake such a work was their first consideration and they are now pleased to announce the appointment of Professor Neatby who is an outstanding authority on field crops and agriculture generally," said G. W. P. Heffelfinger, president of the Line Elevators' Association. "He will be given a free hand in dedicating the work of this new department to the welfare and advancement of farming in Western Canada. Particular thought will be given to seed grain and crop improvement work."

Professor Neatby spent his early years in Saskatchewan and in 1924 obtained his B.S.A. degree at the University of Saskatchewan. He performed graduate work in cereal breeding at the University of Saskatchewan in 1925-26 and at the University of Minnesota in 1927-28 in genetics and plant pathology, where he obtained his M.S.A. degree. From 1928 until 1935 he was attached to the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory as cereal specialist and in 1935 was appointed head of the field crops department of the University of Alberta.

Mail Early

With the service to Europe disrupted because of the war there is an ever increasing need for the slogan Mail Early to be acted upon and so operation by residents of the district will be appreciated by officials.

Mail destined to European countries should be mailed by the first of December at the latest, this year. It will be sent by the first boat no matter when mailed but for those who wish delivery by Christmas day it is wise to follow the instructions issued.

Your local postmaster or the C.P. Express agent will tell you when to send gifts to Canadian and United States points but even in this instance too postal and express officials will be glad if shipments are made early

Moral Re-armament

Outlining the present and future world trends on his recent visit to Shanghai, Mr. Roger Babson, the noted American economist, said we can expect war to continue until there is a spiritual awakening.

"I heartily approve" said the head of the Babson Statistical Organization, "the efforts of Dr. Buchman and his group in boldly stating that Moral Re-Armament will save the world from destruction.

The troubles of today are the natural consequences of ignoring God's laws. If we could continue to ignore them and still enjoy peace, then there would be no need for churches or religions.

Hence, those of us who believe in God and are students of history should expect war to continue until there is a spiritual awakening.

In short, before this world can progress more materially, it must 'catch up' physically. Re-Armament must be at least matched, if not substituted, by Moral Re-Armament.
